General & Safety Precautions

- Keep out of reach of children and pets. This is the most crucial safety warning. The oil can be harmful if ingested.
- Do not ingest. State clearly that the oil is not for consumption.
- Keep away from heat, sparks, open flames, and hot surfaces. Reed diffusers are not fire hazards on their own, but the flammable oils can be ignited by a nearby source.
- Avoid contact with eyes and skin. If contact occurs, rinse immediately and thoroughly with water. If irritation persists, seek medical advice.
- Use in a well-ventilated area. While the fragrance is pleasant, using it in an enclosed space could be overwhelming for some individuals.
- Place on a stable, level surface. This prevents the bottle from tipping over, which could cause a spill.

Handling & Placement Precautions

- Handle with care. The glass or ceramic bottle can be fragile.
- Wipe up spills immediately. The oil can damage or stain painted, plastic, or wooden surfaces. Use a clean cloth to wipe up any spills right away.
- Do not place directly on polished, painted, plastic, or leather surfaces. Always use a coaster or a protective tray underneath the diffuser.
- Do not light the reeds. This is a common mistake. The reeds are designed to absorb and diffuse the oil, not to be burned.
- Wash hands after handling the oil and reeds. This prevents accidental ingestion or skin irritation.
- Do not place the diffuser in direct sunlight or near a heat source. This can cause the oil to evaporate too quickly, shortening the lifespan of the product.

Additional Recommendations

- The fragrance strength is adjustable. Explain that the number of reeds used can be adjusted to control the intensity of the scent. More reeds mean a stronger fragrance.
- Flip the reeds for a fragrance boost. Advise you to flip the reeds occasionally (e.g., once a week) to refresh the scent.
- Store in a cool, dry place. If the product is not in use, it should be stored properly to maintain its quality.
- Dispose of responsibly. Remind customers to check local regulations for disposing of the remaining oil and the glass bottle.

CAUTION

Do not ingest. Avoid contact with eyes and skin.

In case of spills, wipe immediately, as the oil may damage surfaces. Do not place on polished, painted, or plastic surfaces without a protective coaster.

Keep away from heat and open flames.

Do not light reeds.
